Purpose of the website

The website presents our software development and IT services and provides a way to contact us. It does not offer online ordering, payment or public user registration.

The specific scope, price, schedule and delivery terms of a service are set out in an individual proposal and contract. General descriptions on this website do not in themselves constitute a contractual offer.

Privacy

Our privacy notice explains the processing of personal data; our cookie notice describes the use of cookies. Both documents are available from the website footer.
